

Rite of Passage

It wasn't the hunt
by men with guns
impressing the autumn skies.

It wasn't a preacher
or a school teacher
that removed the beam from my eyes.

It was merely a trifle –
downed bird, air rifle, fun with a BB gun.

How the spot on its breast did burn!
It died that I might learn
my hunting days were done.